TERESA BRICE LEADERSHIP AWARD

Southern Arizona Legal Aid

SALA is a non-profit public interest law firm providing free legal assistance. Over the last 12 months, their work with foreclosure defense has been a beacon for families struggling to keep their homes. They helped households facing unfair landlord practices, people with public housing concerns, and families with mobile home park problems. But they have also gone beyond this work to advocate for system change, working with investigative reporters on scams and delays, forging new partnerships with nonprofits, government agencies, and the University of Arizona law school to prevent abusive housing practices, and collaborating with the Attorney General's office to stop consumer fraud. This demonstrated leadership has made a significant impact in ensuring all Arizonans have a quality home they can afford.
